Iceland contributes to international efforts to fight the Avian Influenza

At the International Pledging Conference on Avian and Pandemic Influenza which took place in Beijing, China, on January 17-18, 2006, the Government of Iceland announced its intention to donate 25 million ISK, or 0.4 million dollars, in support the global campaign against the avian influenza and a potential influenza pandemic. The contribution is among other things intended to strengthen health care and veterinary expertise and to prevent the virus to spread from animals to humans.
